

Against Greek Exceptionalism

Program in Hellenic Studies, Princeton University

Saturday, February 10, 2007

Scheide Caldwell House, Room 103

>> 9.30 - 12.00

Maria Kaliambou, Princeton University
In Search of Exceptionalism in Greek Folklore Studies

Dimitri Papanikolaou, University of Oxford
On Banal Exceptionalism

Penelope Papailias, University of Thessaly
Media Technologies and Foreign Bodies in Contemporary Greece

>> 1.30 - 3.00

Nassia Yakovaki, University of Thessaly
Greece and Europe: An Exceptional Bond Revisited

Lidia Santarelli, Columbia University
War, Occupation, and Civil War:
Rethinking Greek History from a Transnational Perspective, 1940-1949

>> 3.30 - 6.00

Miltos Pechlivanos, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki
The Anxiety of Influence:
The Burden of the Comparison and Modern Greek Literary History

Constanze Guthenke, Princeton University
Running with Scissors:
The (Dys-)Functionality of Greek Romanticism

Effie Rentzou, Princeton University
Ruling the Exception:
Modernism and Avant-Garde in Greece

COSPONSORED BY: DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY, DAVIS CENTER FOR HISTORICAL STUDIES, DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS, DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY, DEPARTMENT OF COMPARATIVE LITERATURE

Dimitris Hatzisradis, Syntagma Square, Athens, 1956, Benaki Museum Photographic Archives