Junior Statesmen Summer School at

Princeton University

$\overline{ m A}$ tradition of learning and leadership

Princeton Summer School students explore the world of politics while enjoying the scholarly, academic environment of an Ivy League institution. Additionally, students participate in an exciting Speakers Program in New York City at the United Nations.

In class, students attend two college-level courses, one in government and the other in speech. The core program includes AP US Government and Speech Communication. Student who have completed advanced coursework in U.S. Government or U.S. History may choose one of the advanced classes: U.S. Foreign Policy, Political Philosophy, or AP Comparative Government. Additionally, advanced speech students may select Political Communication in lieu of the basic speech course.

Please contact The Junior Statesmen Foundation to request an application. You can call us at (800-334-5353) or visit us on the web at www.jsa.org. Applications are review on a rolling basis with an application deadline of April 28, 2006. Tuition for the program, including room and board as well as all educational materials, is $3875. Partial scholarships are available. The Junior Statesmen Foundation also offers Summer Schools on the campuses of Georgetown, Yale, Northwestern, and Stanford Universities. Additional information on these programs can be found on the web at www.jsa.org/summer.
