CRITICAL CONSUMPTION:
The Future of Food Studies
APRIL 1–2, 2016
Princeton University

9:45 am Welcome

10:00 am to Noon Panel 1: Edible Technologies

Allison Carruth, UCLA
David Edwards, Harvard University
Jennifer Brody, Stanford University
Respondent: Fabio Parasecoli, New School

1:30 pm to 3:30 pm Panel 2: Racial (In)Digestion

Marcia Chatelain, Georgetown University
Heather Lee, MIT
Ashley Rose Young, Duke University
Respondent: Amy Bentley, New York University

4:00 pm to 5:30 pm Keynote: Kyla Wazana Tompkins, Pomona College
“Against Food”

10:00 am to Noon Panel 3: Citizenship/Sovereignty

Elizabeth Hoover, Brown University
Arun Saldanha, University of Minnesota
Sarah D. Wald, University of Oregon
Respondent: Miguel Angel Centeno, Princeton University

1:30 pm to 3:30 pm Panel 4: Affect and the Sensorial

Neetu Khanna, University of Southern California
J. Michelle Coghlan, University of Manchester
Parama Roy, UC Davis
Respondent: Zahid R. Chaudhary, Princeton University

4:00 pm to 5:30 pm Keynote: Heather Paxson, MIT
“Scaling Food Politics: Notes on the Ecologies of Production of America’s Food System”

Conference organizer: Anne A. Cheng
Location TBA
Sponsored by the Program in American Studies
Co-sponsored by the Department of English, Princeton Environmental Institute, Council for the Humanities, Department of African American Studies, and Department of Anthropology

Free and open to the public, but registration is required. Please register at:
http://www.princeton.edu/ams/program-events/

Photo credit, Brock Davis