The form practice helps one to achieve this by developing greater awareness of 'here and now'. Through self-defense applications, students can experience how deep relaxation leads to optimal action, and can apply this idea to other physical disciplines and to enhance everyday life. Because it does not rely on brute force, Tai Chi is a rare example of an art of self-defense that can be used effectively against physically much stronger opponents. This 4 week class will meet in the Dance Studio.

These exercises are easy to learn yet difficult to master, so improvement provides a ready source of feedback for students as they apply their newly developed meditation skills to challenging (and even sometimes adversarial) situations. A meditative way of doing everyday movements is also practiced to reduce tension and enhance well-being. This is a 4 week class.
