America’s Multiracial Population – Marta Tienda on NPR

Findings from the 2010 Census tell us a lot about who American children are today. Visit our website to hear Marta Tienda, Princeton professor and co-editor of our Immigrant Children volume, speak about the 2010 Census findings on intermarriage in America, and to access our most recent Future of Children volume, Immigrant Children: www.futureofchildren.org.

Click here to read our blog post about the 2010 Census and its implications for American children, particularly those growing up in immigrant families.

The Future of Children is a collaboration of the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University and the Brookings Institution. For more information, please visit www.futureofchildren.org.

Join us on Facebook and Twitter:
We have joined Facebook and Twitter! Please click here to become a fan on Facebook or click here to follow us on Twitter.

Please do not reply to this email as it returns to an unmonitored email account. To contact The Future of Children staff, please send an email to foc@princeton.edu.

To unsubscribe click here.