1. What is the Prime award structure?

Award
- Stores administrative information (i.e. title, sponsor, lead PI, anticipated award start/end dates, protocols, terms, milestones, attributes) and forms the basis of billing and revenue recognition.
- Each Award must have at least one Project and one Activity.
- Award is not a ChartField but it is useful number to know. For example, the NOA can only be run by the PS Award ID.

- Award
  - AWD0001001

Project
- Organizes an Award’s funding. Most awards will have just one project.
- Additional projects are created for specific reasons such as:
  - Fabricated Equipment
  - Different F&A Rates on an Award
  - Different PIs
  - Different Departments
  - NSF REUs
  - Simons Foundation Investigator Awards (where additional money is provided for dept use)
  - NIH supplements when the terms of the supplement are different from the terms of the award.
- Depts can request additional projects on the OPAR.
- Project dates for the primary Project are generally the anticipated dates for the award.
- Project dates for non-primary Projects may be less than or equal to the award start and/or end dates.
- Project is a ChartField.

- Project
  - 10002547

Activity
- Activity is the PS term for budget. Almost all awards at Princeton will have just one activity (budget) per project. The Activity ID is 101.
- Multiple activities will only be added for awards with the restricted carryforward requirement that also require SRA to bill by year (like NIH T, P, U grants awarded directly by NIH) or where the GCA determines it would help the department manage restricted carryforward spending. (Just because an award has the restricted carryforward requirement does not mean activities necessarily need to be created.)
- Depts will never request additional activities as the award determines if multiple activities are required.
- The earliest activity start date and latest activity end date across all activities and projects are the obligated dates for the entire award.
- Activity is a ChartField.

- Activity
  - 101
2  What does the Prime COA look like for Sponsored Research projects?

```
Business Unit  Department  Fund  Project  Activity
GRANT         23307     G0001  10003229  101
```

*Award is not a ChartField, but it is a handy number to know. For example, the NOA can only be run by the PS Award ID. Note: if any awards and project IDs for new awards have the same last three digits, it’s a coincidence.

7 Where can I see my Award’s attachments?

See the “How to View Award and Subaward Attachments” guide for all the info!
8 What allows spending to occur against a project?

8.1 What allows new commitments (new POs) to be created?
All of the following must be true:

1. The project status is Open
2. The project processing status is Active
3. The commitment is between the KK Start and End dates.

8.2 What allows spending to occur against existing POs on a Project?
All of the following must be true:

1. The project status is Open or Ended
2. The project processing status is Active
3. The charge is between the KK Start and End dates.

8.3 Notes about Project Status and commitments and spending

1. No new commitments can be created against projects in Ended status.
2. The Ended status date is equal to the project end date or project end date plus one day.
3. By default, Projects with Open or Ended status should have a Project Processing status of Active.

8.4 What is a KK date?

1. A KK date is a Commitment Control date (PS prefers to use KK instead of CC because it could be confused with “credit card.”)
2. The commitment control date is one item, in conjunction with project status that allows spending and/or commitments to be made.
3. The KK end date is 60 days after the project end date if Princeton is a subrecipient and 90 days after the project end date if Princeton is not a subrecipient.
