

2017 Competition Awards Ceremony

Keynote Speaker

Dr. Robert Tkach
Vice Chairman, Marconi Society

The Marconi Society is a foundation dedicated to benefiting mankind through scientific achievements in the internet and communications. Marconi Young Scholars are passionate about working with students in developing countries to help solve important social problems. This work, called the Celestini Project, has successfully improved the health of pregnant women in Uganda and is expanding to India in 2017 in partnership with IIT Delhi.

<http://marconiyoungscholars.org/project/celestini/>

Celestini Project India 2017 Awards Ceremony

10TH November, 2017 (Friday)

Venue: Room No. 101, Ground Floor, Bharti Building, IIT Delhi

Time: 2.00P.M-6.30P.M

PANEL DISCUSSION on IoT meets AI toward Intelligent Things and Cutting Edge Research in IoT/5G with leading industry pioneers and academic faculty at IIT Delhi.

Challenge: To increase road safety in India using video analytics from networked cameras!

Winning Project:

DRIZY: An IoT based Collaborative Driver Assistance System

Team Members:

Nakul Garg

Ishani Janveja

Divyansh Malhotra

Chetan Chawla

Pulkit Gupta

Harshil Bansal

Celestini Project India Directors:

Dr. Aakanksha Chowdhery
Marconi Young Scholar,
Researcher at Princeton University

Dr. Brejesh Lall
Associate Professor, IIT Delhi, Head, Bharti School of telecommunication technology and management

Prerana Mukherjee
PhD Research Scholar, IIT Delhi