Princeton University

Orf 467 – Transportation Systems Analysis Fall 2016

Current News 09/26/16

A Dazzling Golfer Who Drew Postwar America to the Links

Arnold Palmer, who won seven major titles in the late 1950s and early '60s, had a ferocious swing and a fearless attitude, inspiring an American golf boom. He died Sunday at 87.

How Tech Giants Are Devising Real Ethics for Artificial Intelligence

Can Tesla's Autopilot Be Trusted? Not Always
Can anything????

Phone Makers Could Cut Off Drivers. So Why Don't They?
Too many $$$

NJTVNEWS

DOT Issues Safety Checklist for Self-Driving Cars

Video "..."This is not a way for people who are under the influence to get home and one shouldn't even be suggesting that it is."..."