I wish to thank too the comments from participants in seminars at Fundación Juan March, Madrid; Washington University; The University of Chicago; Harvard-MIT Positive Political Economy Workshop; McGill University; Kellogg Institute for International Studies, Notre Dame University; UCLA; Ohio State University; CIDE, Ciudad de México; Stanford University; and Yale University. My deepest gratitude goes, however, to Luis Garicano, with whom I wrote the baseline model described in Chapter 1. Finally, I wish to acknowledge the financial support of the Franke Institute for the Humanities at the University of Chicago. The Institute freed me from teaching in the academic year 1999-2000 under the assumption I would be writing on a different project: I hope that, in spite of my change of plans, the result is worth their investment.
