

THE ROSE & ISAAC EBEL LECTURE ON THE HOLOCAUST

"...The horror of the twentieth century is thought to be located in the camps. But the concentration camps are not where most of the victims of National Socialism and Stalinism died. These are the misunderstandings that prevent us from perceiving the horror of the twentieth century..."

Timothy Snyder Yale University

BLOODLANDS

Eastern Causes of the Holocaust

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 2012 ■ 4:30 PM
ROBERTSON HALL, BOWL 2
PRINCETON UNIVERSITY

Timothy Snyder teaches undergraduate and graduate courses in modern East European political history.

His most recent book, Bloodlands: Europe Between Hitler and Stalin (2010), a history of Nazi and Soviet mass killing on the lands between Berlin and Moscow, is a New York Times bestseller.