

Equilibration through m-benzyne moves the label to two positions.

This structure shows the fates of both labeled positions.

But how do positions 4 and 5 get equally labeled? Here is a suggestion from Kevin Bartlett:

