

Contents

1 Summary and Findings 1

- Congressional Interest 2
- Some Critical Questions 4
- Defining CMI 4
- Sources of Segregation 5
- Benefits of the Current System 6
- Impetus for Change 6
- Findings 8
- Options for Congress 20

2 Three CMI Strategies 23

- Strategy One: Readjustment 23
- Strategy Two: Reform 31
- Strategy Three: Restructuring 37

3 Integrating the Technology and Industrial Base: Overview 43

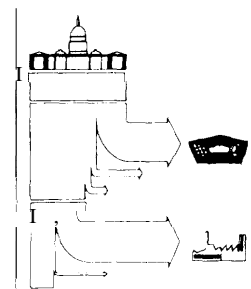

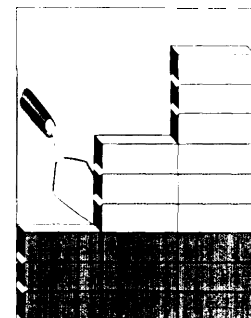

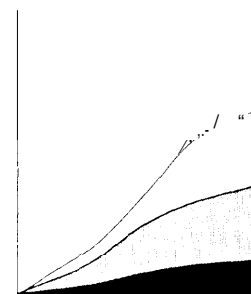

- Definition of Civil-Military integration 43
- Background 44
- Current State of the Debate 50
- Framing the Issue 52

4 Buying Commercial Goods and Services 63

- Background 63
- Current and Potential Use of Commercial Goods and Services 66
- Policy Options To Increase Commercial Purchases 68
- Benefits and Risks of Policies 94
- Benefits Outweigh the Costs 98
- Summary 98

5 Integrating Processes for Goods and Services 101

- The Current and Potential Use of Integrated Processes 102

Barriers to Integrating Processes 105
Policies for Increased Process Integration 112
Summary 136

6 Continued Segregation 139

The Current and Future Degree of Segregation 140
Why Some DTIB Segregation Will Continue 150
CMI Policy Options for the Segregated Base 152
Summary 159

APPENDIXES

A Abbreviations, Acronyms,
and Terms 161

B Selected Commissions, Studies,
Findings, and Recommendations 171

C Selecting a Representative Industrial Sample 176

D Data Collection 178

E Workshops and Reviewers 180

Index 185