

Now Available from the Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies

Bridging Disciplines, Spanning the World: Approaches to Inequality, Identity, and Institutions

Edited by Rachel Beatty Riedl, Sada Aksartova, and Kristine Mitchell, with essays by Charles Tilly, Dinna Wisnu, Margitta Mätzke, Michelle
Poulin, Moses Shayo, Patryk Babiracki, Fiona
Barker, Ayça Çubukçu, Hans Peter Olsen, and La
Dawn Haglund

Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies Monograph Series, Number 4, Princeton University, 2006

The essays in this volume were presented as a part of the inaugural Princeton Institute for International and Regional Studies Graduate Student Conference, organized by Princeton University graduate students and held at Princeton on April 8–9, 2005. The conference, “Bridging Disciplines, Spanning the World: Approaches to Identities, Institutions, and Inequalities,” provided an opportunity for graduate students studying different parts of the world to focus on common interests and to explore diverse methodological approaches to a variety of issues salient across disciplines. . . .

The papers selected for inclusion in this volume were chosen to represent the breadth of the regional and methodological interests and disciplinary backgrounds of the conference participants. . . . The selections reflect the conference organizers’ belief that it is through such interdisciplinary approaches that the complexity of international and regional processes may be better revealed and understood.

—Introduction

Price: $16 per book (paperback) + postage
US 1st class domestic postage: $4.05 each; for orders of more than one copy, postage is determined by zip code.
Foreign postage: to be billed accordingly

Inquiries and Orders: For specific details about orders, please contact Patricia Zimmer at pzimmer@princeton.edu.