

Russian and Eurasian Studies Lecture Series

The Caucasus: Zones of Contestation

Program in Russian and Eurasian Studies
Michael Gordin, Director

Series Organizer: Michael Reynolds, Assistant Professor, Department of Near Eastern Studies

The lectures are held on Tuesdays at 4:30 p.m., 219 Burr Hall

September 22, 2009

“Can the Caucasus Have a History?”

Charles King

Georgetown University

October 27, 2009

“What’s in a Name? Pedigree, Prestige, and Power in the Folklore of the Caucasus”

John Colarusso

McMaster University

November 17, 2009

“A Golden Age in the Combat Zone? Building Churches in Early Medieval Armenia”

Christina Maranci

Tufts University

December 1, 2009

“Urban Culture and Threshold Modernity: Aesthetic Modernism in the ‘Peripheral’ City: Tbilisi 1915–1930”

Harsha Ram

University of California–Berkeley

This lecture series is funded in part by the Davis Center for Historical Studies, a gift to the University Center for Human Values in honor of James A. Moffett '29, the Council for the Humanities, the Liechtenstein Institute on Self-Determination, the Department and Program in Near Eastern Studies, and the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature.

For more information, please contact Audrey Mainzer, amainzer@princeton.edu.