1. How much are the tickets?
PCT show tickets are $8 with current Princeton University ID and $10 for the general public.

2. Once I’ve reserved the ticket, how can I get it and pay for it?
Once you’ve reserved your ticket, you’ll be automatically added to our reservation list. Please expect a confirmation email within 3 days. You will pay by cash and pick up your ticket at the door on the show day.

3. How does room accommodation work?
In the past, PCT has typically arranged room accommodation for peer university students. We usually put people in a current PCT member’s room, and sleeping bags will be provided upon prior request. Depending on the dormitory sizes each year, a host can host 1-3 people; so if you would like to room with your friends, we will try to arrange for that. If you would like to stay with a specific Princeton student, please indicate that on the reservation survey, and we will notify the individual to contact you.

4. Transportation?

By Train
If you choose to take the Amtrak or the New Jersey Transit, you can reach Princeton Junction through the Northeast Corridor Line; then you can hop on the NJ Transit “Dinky” to Princeton Campus. When you reach the Princeton Campus, you will find yourself to the south of campus (close to McCarter Theater Center). Due to current construction, please follow the road signs to navigate yourself. The Dinky Station is about 10 minutes away from Frist Campus Center. Here’s the campus map for your reference: http://etcweb.princeton.edu/pumap/
The Frist Film/Performance Theatre is on the 3rd floor of Frist Campus Center.
By Car
If you are driving to Princeton, you can find detailed driving and parking instructions here: http://www.princeton.edu/main/visiting/travel/driving/

5. Canceling your ticket reservation
In case you are unable to make it anymore, please email njiang@princeton.edu at least 48 hours before the show! Thank you.

Thank you for supporting Princeton Chinese Theatre and we look forward to seeing you soon!
