

Contents

Chapter	Page
I. Summary and Findings . . . . .	3
II. Agricultural Production in the Western United States, . . . . , . . . . .	29
III. Water Supply and Use in the Western United States.. . . . .	47
IV. Water Quality . . . . .	85
v. Institutions Affecting Western Agricultural Water Use... . . . . .	109
VI, Technologies Affecting Precipitation and Runoff, . . . . .	149
VII. Technologies Affecting Surface Water Storage and Delivery .., . . . . .	181
VIII. Technologies Affecting Soil Water . . . . .	211
IX. Technologies Affecting Water-Use Efficiency of Plants and Animals. 243
X. Technologies Affecting Ground Water . . . . .	273
XI. Selected Technologies Affecting Water and Land Management . . . . .	299
XII. Issues and Options for Congress . . . . .	333
Appendix	Page
A. Features of the Arid and Semiarid Region . . . . .	351
B. Western Regional Water Characteristics . . . . .	355
c. Institutions . . . . .	385
D. Method of the Study . . . . .	393
E. Acronyms and Glossary . . . . .	395
F. Contractors, Work Groups, and Workshops. . . . .	398
Index . . . . .	403