PiA WANTS YOU

5 ways to get involved in PiA.

(Please check any areas of interest and return to PiA).

- Make a donation. Make a donation. Make a donation! Please see back panel for further information.

- Host a PiA event in your region. Young alumni parties are scheduled for New York and Boston in the fall. Chicago and Washington, DC are in the works, but we need San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle and why not Tulsa, Wayzata, and perennial PiA stronghold, Fayetteville?

- Become a mentor in the PiA Alumni network. Help returning PiA fellows re-adjust to life in the States and get jobs. PiA mentors will be matched with PiA fellows from the same country or with similar career interests and mentors will provide counsel and assistance in their fields.

- Participate in interviews (January) or orientation (May) at Princeton University. Come talk about the experience, your knowledge of a particular country or just help outgoing PiA fellows think about what to pack and what it will be like.

- Help recruiting efforts at other universities. PiA has a growing number of applicants from other universities. We would greatly benefit from having alumni who would be willing to make brief PiA presentations and discuss the PiA experience with prospective applicants at university campuses in their areas.
1. PiA is your best self. It transformed our lives. It gave us perspective. It makes us interesting. Admit it, we’ve all played the Asian card with a date we’re really trying to impress. Ticket to Japan: $1020. Hello Kitty stationery: $12. Ability to order in Japanese: Priceless.

2. PiA understands you. We actually like your stories and want to hear them. Spare your family or your friends, support PiA. (Mom, Daddy’s telling the Tunghai stories again…)

3. PiA will spend your money well. At an operating budget of $243,000, PiA sends 70 year-long fellows and summer interns to Asia at an average cost of $3,400. Did you really need the deluxe version of the George Forman grill?

4. PiA matters. Sure, you could buy a plasma TV, but, in the words of Luke Davis ‘96, “what is more satisfying than giving someone else the opportunity to experience the very moments that meant so much to you.”

5. PiA matters now more than ever. The cultural bridges that we have built person-to-person for over a century uniquely position PiA to take advantage of growing opportunities in Asia and to foster understanding amongst cultures. Such understanding is as important as it has ever been. In the words of Juliana Gamble ’99, “how lucky we are to have discovered what a small world it is—and what a big part an organization like PiA can play in it.”
