FELLOWSHIPS IN THESSALONIKI, GREECE FOR RECENT COLLEGE GRADUATES

Anatolia College in Thessaloniki, Greece, offers unique Fellowship opportunities for recent college graduates during the 2016-2017 academic year – especially those interested in applying their liberal arts, human and international relations skills in an educational setting.

For more than eighteen years, Anatolia has been hosting recent US college and university graduates for an academic year long fellowship – living on campus and working with our students, faculty and staff. From teaching, mentoring, counselling, to doing institutional research, our Fellows have been involved with student life while they live their own unique experience in a country rich with history and opportunities to explore their own interests.

Anatolia offers a total of ten Anatolia Fellowships for the 2016-2017 school year. We are seeking recent college graduates from a wide range of backgrounds to help enhance our students’ lives while they take part in their own Greek experience.

Anatolia is a school imbued with the best ideals of Greek and American education. Founded in 1886 by American protestant missionaries, Anatolia today serves nearly 2,000 Greek and Balkan students in grades K-12. Students are taught English extensively at all levels and the International Baccalaureate program for 11th and 12th graders is taught entirely in English. Anatolia has a long-standing reputation as one of the best schools in Greece, one where tradition and innovation go hand in hand. The Anatolia campus is also the home of the American College of Thessaloniki, a four-year NEASC-accredited university-level division where Fellows can audit both undergraduate and graduate courses (one tuition-free each semester).

Thessaloniki, the second largest city in Greece, represents the true crossroads of East and West, and gateway to the Balkans. Founded in 315 B.C, Thessaloniki is now a modern seaport city of 1.3 million inhabitants renowned for its wide avenues, neighbourhood squares and tree-lined streets, Byzantine monuments, museums, theaters, hotels, restaurants, clubs, neoclassical buildings, and elegant shops.

The modern city exists in harmony with the old town’s traditional architecture, narrow streets and lovely small gardens. Thessaloniki remains a living memorial to life in Greece dating back over 2,300 years and is endowed with monuments from each era. For those interested in sightseeing outside of the city, historical sites such as Vergina, the Macedonian palace of Alexander the Great, the birthplace of Aristotle, Mt Olympus, Pella, Amphipolis, Kavala and Phillipi, to name only a few, offer opportunities for easy one-day excursions.

Thessaloniki is a human-scale city in which one in ten pedestrians is a university student. With a modern seafront, it is also a Mediterranean city that has preserved the vestiges of its Roman and Byzantine history. Visiting students literally walk in the footsteps of Philip, Alexander, and Saint Paul.

All fellows are provided housing on our beautiful 50+ acre campus on a hillside above Thessaloniki. Fellowships include full room and board, plus up to 1000 Euros for one round trip air economy ticket to/from Greece, and a monthly stipend of €400 (approximately $500 USD).

To apply, you must first attend a mandatory informational webinar (offered on multiple dates in December and early January). Afterwards, you will receive a link to the online application and further instructions to complete your application (including how to submit your CV/Resume, Statement of Interest, and Two Recommendation Letters). To register for the informational webinar, please email Christina Johnson, fellows@anatolia.edu.gr

Completed application and all supplementary documents must be submitted by 12:00am (midnight EST) February 1, 2016. Qualified applicants will be notified via email to arrange a Skype interview. Skype interviews will be held from February 15, 2016 to March 15, 201 (approximately).
Please share with your 2016 graduates the enclosed descriptions:
