

Contents

Page No.	Page No.
I. Summary of Issues, Findings, and Congressional options . . . . .	1	Assessment by Major Categories . . . . .	48
Introduction . . . . .	3	Processed Foods Sector. . . . .	48
Issue I: Grade Criteria— Combining Sensory Characteristics and Nutritional Criteria . . . . .	5	Present Status of Government Programs. . . . .	48
Issue II: Voluntary or Mandatory System	7	Present Status of Private Sector Programs. . . . .	54
Issue III: Grade Designation or Nomenclature . . . . .	9	Potential Function and Impact of Retail Grading. . . . .	57
II. Introduction . . . . .	11	Summary . . . . .	59
Purpose . . . . .	17	Congressional Options . . . . .	59	Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Sector . . .	60
Methodology . . . . .	17	Present Status of Government Programs. . . . .	60	Present Status of Government Programs. . . . .	60
III. Historical Development . . . . .	19	Potential Function and Impact of Retail Grading. . . . .	61	Summary . . . . .	66
IV. Diversity in Current Food Grading . . . . .	23	Congressional Options . . . . .	66	Congressional Options . . . . .	66
Use of Current Food Grades. . . . .	31	Fresh Red Meat Sector. . . . .	67	Present Status of Government Programs. . . . .	67
v. Perspectives on Federal Food Grading:		Present Status of Private Sector Programs. . . . .	70	potential Function of Retail Grading	70
USDA, Industry, and Consumers . . . . .	33	Present Status of Private Sector Programs. . . . .	72	Potential Impact of Retail Grading.	72
U.S. Department of Agriculture. . . . .	35	potential Function of Retail Grading	74	Technology in Relation to Tenderness in Beef. . . . .	74
Mandatory Grading. . . . .	36	Summary . . . . .	74	Congressional Options . . . . .	75
Grading Designation or Nomenclature . . . . .	36	Appendixes and Glossary of Terms. . . . .	77
Program Reform . . . . .	36	Appendix A: Recent Studies Mentioning Food Grading . . . . .	79
Food Processing Industry. . . . .	37	Appendix B: Congressional Interest in Food Grading . . . . .	81
Grade Criteria . . . . .	37	Appendix C: Food Grading Workshop Participants . . . . .	83
Mandatory Grading. . . . .	37	Appendix D: Consumer Input for “Designing a Retail Grading System . . . . .	84
Consumer Interest Groups. . . . .	39	Glossary of Terms . . . . .	87
Grade Criteria . . . . .	39
Mandatory Grading. . . . .	42
Grade Designation or Nomenclature . . . . .	42
Summary . . . . .	43
Grade Criteria . . . . .	43
Mandatory Grading . . . . .	43
Grade Designation or Nomenclature . . . . .	43
VI. Possible Functions of a Federal Retail Food Grading System. . . . .	45
Obtaining Consumer Input for the Design of a Retail Grading System . . . . .	47

LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 1. Flow of Food From Farm to Consumer. . . . .	14	Figure 7. Meat Grades . . . . .	30
Figure 2. Nutritional Labeling . . . . .	16	Figure 8. Proportion of Food Products Graded at Wholesale and Retail. . . . .	31
Figure 3. Proposed Organizational Structure of USDA’s Food Safety and Quality Service	22	Figure 9. Federal Government Agencies Active in Food Programs. . . . .	50
Figure 4. Grading of Butter . . . . .	26	Figure 10. U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare—Public Health Service, Food & Drug Administration—Bureau of Foods . . . . .	51
Figure 5. Fresh Fruits and Vegetables . . . . .	27
Figure 6. Grading of Processed Fruits and Vegetables. . . . .	29

Figure 11. Food and Drug Administration Programs Directed to Control of Food and Cosmetics as Authorized by Various Federal Acts . . . . .	52	Figure 15. Marketing Structure of Processed Foods and Fresh Fruits and Vegetables . . . .	64
Figure 12. Nutritional Labeling . . . . .	53	Figure 16. Breakdown of Meat Grades of Federally Graded Commercial Cattle, 1975.	68
Figure 13. Types of Dates . . . . .	56	Figure 17. Selected Examples of Voluntary Meat Identification Standards . . . . .	69
Figure 14. Examples of Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Packaging. . . . .	61	Figure 18. Beef Chart . . . . .	73

LIST OF TABLES

Table 1. Availability of Consumer Information for Food . . . . .	15	Table 3. Nomenclature for Selected Federal and State Grades for Fruits and Vegetables	28
Table 2. Nomenclature for Selected USDA Food Grades . . . . .	26	Table 4. Selected USDA Grades for Processed Food Products . . . . .	49